The Amazing RootSpa

Check out the RootSpa difference with these tomatoes. The plant on the right is in potting soil. The plant on the left was grown in an the ebb & flow system, and the plant in the center is in the RootSpa*. All seeds were the same type and planted at the same time, and all were grown under the same greenhouse lighting.

* The plant in the RootSpa was originally placed in the ebb & flow and was transplanted to the RootSpa after a couple of weeks.